

6 Decades of providing services to older persons in South Africa!

Your financial assistance will go a long way to enable us to continue providing services to the mothers and fathers of our nation.

Age-in-Action was founded in 1956 in Cape Town under the name The South African Council for the Welfare of the Ageing. Sixty-nine organisations, city councils and chambers of commerce from all provinces decided to create a national body to unite organisations in protecting and promoting the interests and well-being of the aged.

Transformation followed and in 2001, the name and logo was changed from SA Council for the Aged to Age-In-Action.

From humble beginnings, the organisation has developed into a national body with over 1 200 member organisations which includes old age homes, service centres, corporates and individuals. Provincial offices are situated in all major city centres in the country, with 22 satellite offices in rural and deep rural areas.

2016 Marks the organisation's 60th Anniversary and we would like you to partner with us to continue providing much needed services to older persons!

Our Services: Case-work; community development; outreach programmes; adult literacy; HIV/AIDS awareness; active and healthy ageing; research; advocacy and lobbying; elder abuse awareness campaigns and interventions; inter-generational programmes and capacity building.

We would appreciate your donation of R60 monthly or a once-off payment.
